CCOF DFR Lesson 2 Resources

CCOF Website

There are many resources available to you including CCOF website which you will find program details, forms, and applications. In addition, you can go to the website and click donate now under get involved to contribute.

District Governor

You should work very closely with your district governor during your year as DFR. Including ensuring you have been given ample time at all district conferences, meetings, and conventions to share foundation information, recognize individual and club donors, and coordinate and lead fundraising events.

District Conferences and Convention

This is a great way to share ideas with clubs. When attending these events, you will get ideas from clubs to share with other clubs. Often, these events offer opportunities for your own personal and leadership development as well.

International Convention

Going to the International Convention will allow you time to interact with other district foundation representatives and club officers to learn what is or isn't working for them. It is a great way to network and learn some new ideas that you can go back and implement within your district. In addition, the training for personal and leadership development that is offered can help you develop as a person and as a leader.

Optimist Institute

The Optimist Institute is a member benefit for all members of adult Optimist clubs! In addition to annual club and district officer trainings, the Optimist Institute provides courses that cover a variety of topics including leadership, diversity, club membership, Optimist International programs, and technical skills (including Microsoft Office and various forms of social media). In addition, both the Professional Development Program (PDP) and the Personal Growth and Involvement Program (PGI) are located on the Optimist Institute.

CCOF Staff and Foundation Board

The CCOF staff and your Foundation Board are here to support you during your year.
